Fight to stop cuts in fire service

FIREFIGHTERS are preparing to fight cuts which are set to lead to job losses.

Four jobs could go at Haverhill fire station as part of cuts to the Suffolk fire service budget totalling £1.57 million.

The town's fire station is due to go to five-day, full-time cover from the present seven-day cover. Weekends would be covered by on-call fire crews – formerly known as retained firefighters.

The cuts are due to be discussed by Suffolk County Council's cabinet later this month as part of a bid to reduce the county's budget by £40 million.

The fire service budget of £23.5 million is being cut by 6.7 per cent.

The cuts, revealed in a council report, come immediately after controversy over the transfer of Suffolk's fire service control to neighbouring Cambridgeshire.

The Fire Brigades Union is threatening legal action to halt the transfer, agreed in principle by the county council's cabinet on Tuesday.

Andy Message, acting county secretary of the FBU and a Haverhill firefighter, said: "Haverhill is due get another 4,000 homes and is one of the fastest-growing towns in the UK."

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"We need more fire stations in the St Edmundsbury borough and more firefighters – not less.

"There is also a lot of industrial risk in the town like IFF which is very close to the town centre and residential areas. The company has reduced its internal fire team which does not operate at evenings and weekends.

"The effect of toxic fumes could be devastating in the extra five or 10 minutes it would take to get an on-call crew to the factory.

"We don't want to see anyone wait any longer for a fire engine.

"We want to make the public aware of what this means and how their safety is going to be put at risk. We want to get councillors and MPs on our side."

A county council spokesman, commenting on the control centre move, said: "In the interim period before the regional fire control centre is in place – also planned for Cambridgeshire – we must do everything we can to ensure that Suffolk people continue to receive an effective 999 emergency service.

"This proposal is based on a detailed consideration of alternative options focussed primarily on public and firefighter safety."

GB team will give free taster session

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

GOLD medal-winning wheelchair athletes will give a taster session and demonstration at a free session for youngsters between the ages of 7 and 14.

Members of GB boccia team will be taking part in a 'Go for Gold' event at Haverhill Leisure Centre on Monday, December 20.

Boccia is a paralympic sport played by people with disabilities and has similar rules to bowls with leather balls which have to be thrown or pushed as close as possible to a 'jack' ball.

The event, sponsored by financial services company
Deloitte, gives youngsters a chance to try Olympic or Paralympic sports and meet some of the athletes who have competed in the Games.

Other activities on the day will include cycling, badminton, table tennis and gymnastics.

Members of the GB boccia team will also take part in a question and answer session along with Pc

Simon Bourne, from Bury St Edmunds, who recently competed in the Ultraman challenge in Hawaii last month. It involved swimming six miles, cycling 260 miles and running a double marathon in just 30 hours.

Others taking part include Haverhill Paralympian wheelchair basketball player Caroline Maclean, World Triathlete Champion
Barbara Levett, from Steeple Bumpstead, and Commonwealth gymnast Charlotte McKenna, from Helions Bumpstead, who will also be giving a demonstration during the day.

British Cycling will be organising a mini racing tournament and giving out medals and goodie bags to youngsters.

Simon Bourne, who was recently made an Abbeycroft sporting ambassador, will be taking part.

The event, from 10am to 3pm, will end with a prize-giving when children who have scored the most points in each of the sports will receive a medal from the athletes.

Amelia Epton, Abbeycroft's
sports development officer, said:
"This is a unique opportunity for youngsters to come and have a try at some of the sports that will feature in London 2012.

"We are very fortunate to have the fantastic GB boccia team, Simon, Charlotte, Caroline and Barbara with us for the day to encourage the children and give them an insight into what it takes to represent your country at a national and international level."

Adults will be able to tackle two free cycle rides led by experienced riders at 10am and 2.30pm. Bikes and helmets will be provided.

Teenager may be charged with arson

A YOUTH may be prosecuted for arson with intent to endanger life following an incident in which a lighted cigarette was allegedly pushed through a letterbox.

The fire, at a house in Castle Lane, Haverhill, on October 7, was extinguished by the occupants before serious damage was caused.

A 15-year-old youth from the town has been reported for possible prosecution at youth court.

A 16-year-old from the town was arrested last month by officers investigating the incident.
He has now been told he will not face police action and his bail, which was due to expire on December 22, has been cancelled.

Coffee and cake helps to bridge the generation gap

THOUGHTFUL students invited older people for a slice of Christmas cake this week.

About 100 pensioners were picked up by coaches from Abington, Balsham, Horseheath and Castle Camps and driven to Linton Village College on Tuesday, where Year 9 pupils served drinks, mince pies and cake.

A 'slave auction', cake sale and sponsored silences were carried out by pupils from Year 9, who had to raise £300 to fund the community afternoon.

Student Mollie Betts, 14, said: "I wanted to give something back to the community. We're not just in school to learn, we're here to help others and Christmas is a good time to do that."

"I think it's a really good way of bringing people together."

Lucy Baker, 13, was on the organising committee and said she enjoyed the responsibility of being given something important to do.

Jenny Pullin, food technology teacher, said the event had been running at the college for 18 years and had grown from 25 guests to more than 100.

She said: "It is always a really happy event, bringing children together with older people from their villages."

"Some of the older people went to LVC and they love reminiscing about their schooldays, and the students really enjoy listening to their stories."

George Smith, 13, added: "I hope it will help me to get to know older people in my village."

The afternoon event was a great success and visitors also enjoyed seasonal music from the college's wind band and pop choir.

Man disobeys police order

A MAN has been cautioned by the police after he failed to obey an order to leave a town centre. The 19-year-old from Haverhill was given a section 27 notice under the Violent Crime Reduction Act, ordering him to leave the town centre early on Sunday morning. Police have the power to issue the notices to prevent drink-related violence. But he failed to leave and was given a caution.

Festive funds bid

SANTA and his sleigh will be making the rounds in Haverhill and nearby villages to collect money for a party for pensioners. The annual Haverhill Round Table fundraising effort began on Saturday in the High Street, where it will be every Saturday until Christmas, as well as visiting some of the residential areas of the town and neighbouring villages. The cash collected will help pay for a party for pensioners at the town hall, on January 15.

Motorbikes stolen

TWO off-road motorcycles have been stolen from an outbuilding. The Demon X140 pit bikes and riders' clothing, together worth around £2,800, were taken from a building off Stoke Road, Clare, between 5pm Thursday and 9am Friday.

Anyone with information should call Sgt Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Bad back fails to sway judge

A CRIMINAL with a bad back tried to get his sentence reduced because prison beds are not comfortable enough.

Darryl Barfield – who has a string of 41 convictions for 85 offences – is in prison for assaulting an Addenbrooke's Hospital security guard, possession of a knife, disorder and breaching a suspended sentence for two counts of assaulting police.

Despite only receiving a total sentence of 18 weeks at Cambridge Magistrates' Court, he appealed to the city's Crown court asking for his release date to be moved from December 19 to December 6.

But his defence's pleas almost ended with a longer sentence, as Judge Anthony Bate warned he had powers to increase as well as decrease the time spent in jail.

Judge Bate said: "Anyone who assaults an NHS security guard can expect to serve time in prison. Spitting at a public servant is foul and, as an assault, it deserves prison."

Barfield, 38, was jailed by

BY PAUL HOLLAND

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

magistrates after breaching a suspended sentence originally handed down after he assaulted a police officer by spitting out his bloody tooth onto the PC.

The subsequent breach happened when he was found drunk in High Street, Castle Camps on September 2. He was arrested for disorder – and when searched he was found to have a lock knife.

Barfield, of Tern Close, Haverhill, breached it again three days later when he tried to discharge himself from Addenbrooke's with a head wound.

Security guard Mike Smith escorted him from the premises to the bus stop. While at the stop, the abusive Barfield spat on the guard's leg – an action judged to constitute assault.

Defence barrister Rupert Myers said magistrates – who reduced the suspended sentence from 20 to 10 weeks – could have been more generous.

He went on to claim Barfield's eight-week sentence for spitting had attracted too long a sentence, making the total 18 weeks to be served unfair.

Mr Myers said his client had alcohol problems and suffered a severe medical complaint: "He suffers from a slipped disc and requires morphine."

He added: "At the moment he is sleeping on prison beds, which do nothing but aggravate his back problems."

Mr Myers said a reduction in sentence would also help Barfield tackle his drinking issues with the help of his wife, Bernice.

But Judge Bate said Barfield had a very long criminal record including assault, threats to kill and burglary.

He said: "His record substantially aggravates any offence by him."

He added: "I have no hesitation in saying that eight weeks is a proper sentence, particularly taking into account the knife."

"As for the suspended sentence, which the magistrates halved, I would say the magistrates were being generous. There is no merit in this appeal and I reject it."

Winning notes for school

PUPILS from a school which is set to close next year won a top award at the Haverhill Music Festival.

The 30 youngsters from the town's Castle Hill Middle School were led by music teacher Karen Sanderson.

They took part in the large choir section for pupils under 12 winning the category and a silver cup.

A school spokeswoman said: "This competition shows that Castle Hill still has lots of talent and plenty to offer. They will be performing at a high standard until the very end."

Jail for attack on barman

A MAN has been jailed for 12 months for joining his brother and father in an attack on a barman.

Kris Clifton, 30, of Coltsfoot Green, Wickhambrook, admitted causing actual bodily harm to Sean Green, 43, at the Brewers' Arms in Osborne Street, Colchester, on April 8 last year.

He appeared for sentence at Chelmsford Crown Court after a judge asked for psychiatric reports on him.

His brother Marc, 29, of Chapel Street South, Colchester, has already been jailed for 16 months after admitting the same charge.

Their father, Ian, was not prosecuted.

The court heard that Kris Clifton had been medically assessed and it was likely he had a schizophrenic form of psychosis, mixed anxiety and personality disorders, anti-social traits and longstanding substance and alcohol dependency.

The attack started in the pub and continued in the street, where they tried to smash Mr Green's head into a plate glass window.

He was kicked while on the ground and suffered two broken ribs, a cut to his forehead and temple, and bruising.

In a statement read in court, Mr Green said he hoped those responsible would be sent to prison.

Dawn Chapman, mitigating for Clifton, said the incident happened after the two brothers and their father had been drinking excessively.

She said Kris Chapman had initially tried to diffuse an argument but then joined in the attack "out of misplaced loyalty to his brother and father".

Thieves target pub

CIGARETTES and cash were stolen from a pub after a window was smashed.

Thieves caused around £1,600 damage at the Black Horse pub in Camps Road, Haverhill, when they broke in between 6.30pm and 11.30pm last Wednesday. The stolen cash and cigarettes are worth nearly £1,000.

Anyone with information about the burglary should call Pc Penny Ogden at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Cards taken in burglary

BURGLARS got away with two mobile phones, bank cards and a television.

They got into a house in Alderton Close, Haverhill, between 10.20pm on Thursday and 4.45am on Friday. Call Det Con Jacqueline Mumford on (01284) 774100.

Christmas shoppers sign up for town centre survey

MORE than 1,000 shoppers completed questionnaires designed to find out what people think of Haverhill.

The survey was carried out by St Edmundsbury Borough Council and attracted 1,093 responses, which are now being analysed. Interim results are expected early in the New Year, followed by an action plan.

The aim of the survey was to collect information on visitor behaviour patterns in the town centre.

Two shoppers will receive prizes after their forms were selected at random.

The first prize is vouchers valued at £185, from businesses in Haverhill including Clarks, C&B Beautiful, Sonia's Salon, Tony Strowger Jewellers and Abbeycroft Leisure. The second prize is a convector heater from M J Pipe. The winners are being contacted.

Busy trade: the council-run survey was conducted to find out about visitor behaviour patterns in Haverhill in the run-up to Christmas.

Headteacher is named at area's first free school

A HEADTEACHER has been appointed at the first free school to be established in the area.

Christine Inchley, currently deputy head of Manningtree High School, will be the head of the Stour Valley Community School in Clare.

The school, run by a trust, will operate from the site of Clare Middle School which is closing next summer as part of Suffolk County Council's switch to two-tier education.

It is one of just 25 across the country which is set for approval by the Department for Education.

Keith Haisman, trust chairman, said: "We were thrilled to have such a strong field of candidates to choose from and we are very pleased that Chris has accepted this exciting role in the vanguard of state education provision.

"Our school is unique, with a particular set of community needs and aspirations – and Chris fits our requirements precisely.

"We are convinced that she will deliver academic rigour and no-nonsense approach to discipline that underpins the best school experiences."

Mrs Inchley said: "I have worked in this area in the past and know how much latent potential there is to be unlocked by this incredible new school."

Homes rethink is supported by businesses

BUSINESS leaders have welcomed changes to development plans to provide more executive-style houses.

Last month, Haverhill Chamber of Commerce complained that the proposals for the development of the north-west area of the town did not include enough "top-end" housing for bosses of businesses in the town.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council and planners Bidwells have now agreed to change the proposals.

The campaign for more executive homes was supported by Haverhill Town Council.

The Chamber of

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Commerce warned that a concentration of "affordable" homes would "put the clock back" and slow down improvements to the town.

Consultation on the changes, which involve housing densities and building heights, has begun and will result in an alteration to the plan for the development, if there are no objections.

Sarah Howard, chair of the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, said: "This is very good news for the town as it will help raise the quality and variety of houses that we will have to offer in the future, especially those at the top end, of which there is a big shortfall at present.

"In addition, as pointed out by a leading national retailer, this will raise the overall profile of the town and help towards realising a greater diversity to the retail offer in the town centre."

The changes involve reducing house densities to less than 35 per hectare for land between Boyton Hall and the A143 Wrattling Road.

It also proposes building heights to a maximum of two and half storeys, from a previously proposed three and a half storeys.

Around 40 per cent of the new homes are intended to be "affordable."

Last week's Memories photograph from our archives featured a rather unusual collection of Oxo cubes. Pupils at Haverhill Middle School had been busy collecting them and were pictured in March 1990. But what happened to that square metre of Oxo cubes remains a mystery.

Marvellous response to survey

A BIG thank you to all the 1,093 people who completed and returned the Haverhill Shopper Survey – it was a marvellous response.

The lucky prize draw winners scooped up vouchers worth a magnificent £185 from Clarks, C&B Beautiful, Sonia's, Tony Strowger's, Haverhill Leisure Centre and M J Pipe. Congratulations to the winners and thank you to the businesses for their donations.

We are now analysing the survey data and will report back in a future column.

On Friday, December 17, at 3.30pm, the Queen Street Gates at the Lower Downs Slade end will be illuminated for the first time.

In her monthly column in the Weekly News, town centre manager Tina Hanks has news for shoppers and some seasonal greetings

The students who conceived and designed the gates will have been hard at work polishing them, so please come along. The lights are integral to the design and continue the theme of Haverhill as a town of light.

I hope you have enjoyed the fabulous seasonal events in Haverhill. If you still need some presents or stocking fillers, you have a last chance to buy them at the special Haverhill Christmas market on Friday, December 24, when the Friday and Saturday markets combine.

There will be no market on Christmas or New Year's Day.

Haverhill police ask you to take extra care over the Christmas period, locking doors and windows, keeping presents out of view of passers-by, both at home and in vehicles, and keeping a close eye on your valuables when shopping or socialising in the town.

Here are some dates for next year's diary. Following positive feedback, the Job Centre Plus bus will again be in the High Street, opposite Market Square, from 9.15am-3.45pm on alternate Fridays for three months, starting on January 7. There's no need to book – just turn up and take advantage of all the free advice and support to help you set up your own business.

I wish you a happy Christmas and a successful New Year.

Feathered friend: Dusty Miller with Squeaky, who now follows him everywhere he goes. 699200

Pigeon is a real pal to Dusty

MEET Squeaky, the tame pigeon who was rescued as a baby by an animal lover and is never far from his favourite perch – his keeper's head.

Dusty Miller, 68, nursed the baby bird back to health after he found it abandoned in a doorway in freezing temperatures five weeks ago.

He fed and watered Squeaky as he grew and became his surrogate parent – even teaching the pigeon to fly in the back garden of his home in Haverhill.

When the pigeon was fully grown and the time came to release him into the wild, Dusty took him to the park to let him go.

But Squeaky had become so attached to his owners, Dusty and his wife Margaret, 68, that he flew straight back to their home.

Now Dusty's feathered friend sleeps in his living room, takes baths in his sink, and follows him everywhere – even down to the shops.

The grandfather-of-four said: "I keep telling him to go but he just comes straight back to me. He loves sitting on my head.

"When we found him he was a baby and he couldn't fly, so I had to teach him. We had sessions with me throwing him up and him falling flat.

"I have tried to release him plenty of times but he always comes back. One night he stayed away and I thought that was it, but there he was waiting for me in the morning.

"Now he follows me everywhere. When I go to the shops he perches on my shoulder like a parrot or on the top of my head.

"I'm known for taking in waifs and strays, but I have always released birds back into the wild. This is the first time I've ever had one stay with me."

Dusty, a retired prison auxiliary, is now planning to build a large cage in his back garden where Squeaky can sleep, safely protected from the claws of the neighbourhood's hungry cats.

Cheaper charge to bring in shoppers

A NEW 30p an hour parking charge could be introduced next year to encourage shoppers to "pop in" to Haverhill town centre.

The new rate will replace the current 90p for up to four hours at the town's Ehringshausen Way and The Meadows car parks.

It is being backed by the Haverhill Area Working Party and is subject to the agreement of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet early next year.

The new 30p per hour charge is being put forward in response to a drop in long-stay parking following the opening of the town's Tesco store, where there is no charge.

Motorists indicated that they would welcome a lower charge for stays of up to an hour, according to a council report.

There is already a 30p hourly rate at the Town Hall and Lower Downs Slade car parks which will be unchanged. The rate for a stay of more than an hour at the town hall is set to rise from £1.20 to £1.50, while the charge for four hours at Ehringshausen Way and the Leisure Centre is set to rise from 90p to £1.

Tree of memories

A MEMORIAL tree has been provided at a funeral director's business for relatives and friends of people who have died.

The tree, at the Co-operative Funeralcare branch in High Street, Haverhill, is being decorated with memorial cards.

Mandy Goodwin, of Co-operative Funeralcare, said: "This is the sixth year we have offered a memorial tree in honour of those who have died, as it has always proved to be a great help for relatives and friends.

"We know that Christmas and New Year, in particular, is a time when people look back and remember those they've lost."

The funeral home is open from 10am to 4pm and cards can be left until Christmas Eve.

Prisoner recaptured

A PRISON escapee has been recaptured.

James Whitlock, 25, walked out of Edmunds Hill prison, near Haverhill on June 14.

He was arrested on Tuesday in Dudley, West Midlands.

He was serving a 33-month sentence for theft when he disappeared.

Tracy Poulton, 26, of Cawbeck Road, Little Canfield, Essex, has appeared before magistrates at Bury St Edmunds accused of helping a prisoner to escape. She was sent to Ipswich Crown Court for a preliminary hearing on Thursday, December 16.

Birth unit opening

A NEW unit which offers mothers a "homely" environment in which to give birth will be officially opened at West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds, tomorrow.

The £470,000 midwifery-led birthing unit (MLBU), which gives expectant women extra choice as to where they can deliver, welcomed its first baby at the start of November. Since then, the unit has proved popular with women who need midwifery care only and want to experience a natural birth.

MP David Ruffley will perform the official opening of the unit at the hospital, which serves the Haverhill area.

Police take alcohol from youngsters

ANTI-social behaviour and under-age drinking are among issues tackled by police in the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood team in the past month.

Officers seized alcoholic drinks from youngsters in the area of railway line footpath and sent letters to parents about their children's behaviour.

They also handed out leaflets in multiple languages explaining the boundaries of the alcohol-free zone.

A report by the SNT says that issues in the area have since reduced.

The team also tackled problems of young people acquiring alcoholic drinks in Leiston Road during weekends.

Officers spoke to shop owners and youth workers, and increased patrols in the area.

Other issues tackled by the team included problems with parents parking outside schools in School Lane and Burton End.

The team also worked with the town council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council to improve the Lowry Close children's play area after it was vandalised.

New waste bins and play equipment were installed.

Fewer seeking help over drug abuse

THE number of young people in the East of England seeking help to battle drug abuse has fallen, new figures reveal.

Statistics from the National Treatment Agency for Substance Misuse (NTA) show under-18s asking for help for primary use of heroin and crack has more than halved over five years.

Cocaine use as a primary drug has fallen by 43 per cent in the past two years.

The number accessing services for primary use of Ecstasy fell by 79 per cent in two years and the number of under-18s receiving help has stabilised.

Emma Pawson, regional NTA manager said: "For those teenagers who seek help, substance misuse is usually one of a range of problems causing difficulties in their life, which is why treatment services must work with partners in youth services."

'Secret Santa' will aid charity shops

A HAVERHILL store is helping to raise funds for charity with a staff 'secret Santa'.

Mark Bullard, store manager at Savers in High Street, will be joined by his team to spread a bit of Christmas cheer this festive season.

Mark said: "This year we are running a 'secret Santa' for all our employees with a twist.

"All 'secret Santa' presents will be purchased from local charity shops - this will raise £80 for charity.

"Christmas is a time for giving and thinking of others. My team and I are helping to spread a little joy and goodwill at Christmas."

He added: "The staff at Savers wish everyone a merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year."

Vision for the future: Father Michael Teader with the plans at the launch of new the Catholic church building scheme at St Felix Catholic Church on Princess Way in Haverhill.

Picture: Keith Jones 697223

Fundraisers closing in on magic £1m

A NEW church is set to be built in a scheme costing nearly £1 million.

The congregation at Haverhill's St Felix Catholic Church have helped raise £800,000 in the past 10 years to enable the project to go ahead early next year.

The existing church was built as a temporary structure in 1965 and is regularly packed to its capacity of 220 for services.

The new church, which will have space for a congregation of 350, will be built on the same site in Princess Way, on the town's Parkway estate, and will have facilities for community use.

Father Michael Teader, the parish priest, said: "We are very fortunate in Haverhill to have such a vibrant and expanding parish, which is only set to increase as the population of Haverhill grows in the future.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"Our current church building is just not big enough to accommodate everyone. Almost invariably it's absolutely full for normal Sunday Masses and during special Masses such as Easter and Christmas.

"Even at the present population level, the church is bursting at the seams. Building a new church has been our vision for so long and now I am very excited that we are moving forward with the project.

"Planning permission was granted by St Edmundsbury Borough Council in May.

"What has been achieved so far is just incredible, thanks to the generosity and kindness of so many people.

"We have about 85 per cent of the funds available, £800,000, and while depending on the actual tender estimates, we still have around £130,000 to raise. But I am very confident that our resourceful parishioners, local people and the wider Catholic community will continue to support St Felix as we move to turn our vision into reality."

The project will go out to tender this month and is it hoped that the contractors will be on site and work will commence in February next year, with completion expected in November.

Donations to help pay for the work can be sent to the St Felix New Church Building Fund c/o Father Michael Teader, 3 Wentworth Terrace, Haverhill, CB9 9BP.

Gift Aid forms are available to increase the value of donations by 28 per cent. For more information contact Sharon Waters (01440) 707752.

Church service to remember lost lives

AN annual church service to remember people who have died will be staged in Haverhill.

The Light up a Life service, organised by St Nicholas Hospice Care, will include a reading of the names of every person who is to be remembered, whether they had treatment from the hospice team or not.

The Rev Charles Amoah, hospice chaplain, said: "The Light up a Life events are always a special part of our calendar – it is something we want the whole Haverhill community to come and share in."

The service will be held at Haverhill Methodist Church on Tuesday, December 14, at 6.30pm.

Eating disorder caused my daughter to die at 35 stone

"She made a mark on the world": Deena Renyard wasn't diagnosed with a rare genetic disorder until she was in her teens. Below right: Deena in hospital in 2005, shortly before her death. Right, Rose sharing precious memories of her daughter.

PLAGUED by a gnawing, insatiable hunger – so powerful she'd rip doors from their hinges to get food – Deena Renyard's entire life revolved around eating.

Suffering from a rare genetic disorder, which left her permanently ravenous, her weight spiralled to a deadly 35 stone; five years ago, her organs no longer able to take the strain, she died bed-bound in hospital. She was only 38.

"Food was Deena's main focus in life. The only thing I can compare it to is being a drug addict: if you took food away from her, it was like going cold turkey," explains her mum, Rose Felloni.

"She'd rip locked doors off their hinges to get to food. If you left anything in the fridge, forget it – all you'd find were empty packets. If you stood up to answer the door during dinner, you'd come back to an empty plate.

"People with this disorder literally eat themselves to death. They'll steal food, take it out of dustbins, off the floor..."

"It is a terrible affliction. And it's made much worse by people's ignorance: Deena was often treated like a freak; she suffered a lot of personal misery.

"Yet she still had time for other people. She was a real character: not a day goes by when we don't talk about her; she's still with us, in a way."

Rose, who lives in Haverhill, is determined to raise awareness of the condition that blighted her daughter's life: called Prader-Willi Syndrome, it's a genetic disorder.

Born with a rare genetic disorder, Deena Renyard would stop at nothing to feed her insatiable hunger. Interview by ALICE RYAN

Incredibly rare (it affects around one in every 20,000 births), it stems from a chromosomal abnormality which affects the area of the brain controlling appetite.

"There is so much ignorance out there and Deena was often on the receiving end of it," explains Rose, 64. "One of the worst was a van driver who pinched a disabled parking space from us, saying Deena was 'so ****ing fat she could do with the walk anyway'. People were always making cruel comments about her being fat, lazy, greedy... It beggars belief really, to think right-minded people could say things like that – but they do.

"Fortunately, awareness is improving, and the future for children born with the condition today isn't as bleak as it used to be."

Rose held a giant book sale over a recent weekend – several tonnes of books went on sale at Thurlow Village Hall over two days.

She is keen to raise as much cash as possible for research into Prader-Willi, its causes and treatments. All the money raised will go towards funding the work of Professor Tony Holland at the University of Cambridge. Currently, there are few treatments and there is no known cure.

Looking back, Rose says Deena showed symptoms of Prader-Willi from birth – though no doctor recognised them. Her body was floppy and she couldn't suckle; in the end, Rose resorted to tipping milk into her mouth a teaspoon at a time.

"I'm not the panicky type, so I wasn't too worried," remembers Rose, a mother-of-three. "Then, when she was eight days old, a midwife came round. She didn't say anything, but next thing I knew there was a doctor on the doorstep saying 'There's a child dying in here'..."

Rushed to Addenbrooke's by ambulance, Deena spent the next eight days having test after test, all to no avail. "I was told then she would be a vegetable, that she'd never walk or talk," continues Rose. "But every time I was told something was impossible, I did everything I could to make it happen."

tone and co-ordination. Although she was slow to walk, walk she did. And, very gradually, her speech developed too.

By the age of 2, Deena's appetite was already voracious, prompting Rose to take her to the GP. "I knew something was wrong. I was told I just had a greedy child and to watch her weight. But if you didn't give her food, she would steal it."

"We went backwards and forwards to the doctor for years, but nobody took me seriously. By the time she turned 16 she was 14 or 15 stone and she was only little, only 4ft 10in tall. I thought 'This is too stupid for words, I'm not taking this any more' - I actually chained myself up in a hospital to get someone to take notice."

Eventually referred to a specialist, Deena was admitted to hospital for tests. She stayed there for six months until, at long last, an American expert suggested testing for Prader-Willi - and the test came back positive.

"At that time the prognosis was early teens. When they told me that, I hit the floor - she was already 16, you see. I spent about two days sobbing my heart out and then told myself 'Right, you've had your cry, it's time to stop feeling sorry for yourself and get on and deal with it. At least we know what it is we're dealing with now.'"

With no medication available, Rose admits managing Deena's condition - and policing her food intake - could be tough.

"Behavioural problems are also part and parcel of the condition and she had the most spectacular temper tantrums. She locked Pete, her step-dad, out of the house more than once."

Learning difficulties are also associated with Prader-Willi. During her early years of education, Deena was in a special needs class within a mainstream school; for secondary education, she moved on to a special school.

"Deena was actually very bright," adds Rose. "She could hold a good conversation and she was very political. And she certainly knew her own rights."

Rose - who has worked both as a lorry driver and in victim support in the past - was Deena's main carer (though professional carers also helped). "She had a love/hate relationship with me. She hated me because I'd given birth to her; if I hadn't, she wouldn't have been the way she was. But if anyone said a word against me, she'd defend me to the end."

"She had a lot of frustrations: she loved horse riding and swimming, but, as she got bigger, she had to give them both up. I made wedding dresses from home for a while, but I realised that was painful for her: she would have loved to have had a fairytale wedding, but she knew it could never happen... There were times when she would cry and say 'Mum, I'm going to die'."

"But she had a lot of time for other people too. She used to be a befriender to the elderly; she even used to offer to get Pete to mend things for them: once she brought home a pair of false teeth..."

A great animal lover, Deena always had pets. Among the most memorable was, laughs Rose, a hamster: when she found it lying lifeless in its cage, Deena thought it might just be a bit cold - and put it under the grill to warm it up. "I saw this orange glow coming up the stairs: it was Deena holding the grill pan, with a flaming hamster on it. She was so, so funny, but she hated people to laugh at her; that time I really had to bite my lip!"

When Deena died, she was 35 stone; her knees alone measured 42 inches in diameter (equivalent to an average woman's hips). Incredibly, she kept walking right up until her admission to hospital, despite crippling joint pain.

Prone to bouts of both lymphedema (profound fluid retention) and cellulitis (a chronic inflammation of the skin, causing it to break out in sores), Rose visited Deena one morning and found her confined to bed and in complete agony.

Even getting her to hospital proved a trial: there was no way Deena could get on a standard stretcher, let alone fit through the ambulance's back door. In the end, Rose had to remove the seats from her own people-carrier (fitted with a tail-lift specially for Deena) and drive her to hospital herself.

Deena spent the next five and a half months in West Suffolk Hospital. "She told me 'Mum, I know I'm not coming out of here'," says Rose. "It was very sad, but at least I was able to stay with her right till the end." For the last two weeks, Rose stayed at her daughter's bedside round the clock.

"Deena didn't ask to be born the way she was," adds Rose. "Her back could have broken or her heart exploded any time, yet she never gave in: if someone said to her 'You can't possibly do that', she'd damn well do it."

"We travelled a long and often lonely road together, made even harder by people's ignorance of her condition; at times, things became almost intolerable. But, Deena being Deena, she was more than capable of giving as good as she got. She was, in more ways than one, a larger than life character - and she certainly left her mark on this world."

with butterfly kites, Disney Fairy models, or dainty pocket key ring kites, featuring Winnie the Pooh or other familiar faces. Boys might prefer army plane kites or shark-themed models. For older children there are stunt kites in an enormous range of colours.

While you're there, why not stock up on toys and games for the big day too, with so many stocking fillers in stock, you'll be spoilt for choice. Outdoor games are popular over the holidays, with Zyclones – a gun which shoots foam rings – being a particularly popular seller this month. If foam weaponry is going down well at your house, there's also cross bows with soft arrows, and pump up foam pop rockets. For the traditionalist there are also Frisbees and boomerangs.

The shop, which was originally based online before the Haverhill shop opened earlier in the year, sells a variety of power kites, starting from £20 and going up to £600, with a style for everyone. Ranges include Flexifoil, Peter Lynn, HQ and Radsail, and numerous colours are available.

Christmas caught on in 19th century

IT'S almost impossible to imagine now, but at the beginning of the 19th century Christmas was hardly celebrated at all.

Yet by the end of the century it had become Britain's biggest annual celebration, and took on many of the traditions which we recognise today.

Many attribute this change in attitude to Queen Victoria, and indeed her marriage to the Prince Albert did introduce many festive trends. In 1848 the Illustrated London News published a drawing of the royal family celebrating around a decorated Christmas tree, which was a tradition from his native Germany. Soon every home in Britain wanted its own tree, decorated with candles, sweets, fruit, homemade decorations and small gifts.

In 1843 Henry Cole commissioned an artist to design a card for Christmas. The illustration showed a group of people around a dinner table and a Christmas message. At one shilling each, these were pricey for ordinary Victorians and were only available to wealthy families. However the sentiment caught on and many children – Queen Victoria's included – were encouraged to make their own Christmas cards. In this age of industrialisation colour printing technology quickly became more advanced, causing the price of card production to drop significantly.

Together with the introduction of the halfpenny postage rate, the Christmas card industry took off. By the 1880s the sending of cards had become hugely popular, creating a lucrative industry that produced 11.5 million cards in 1880 alone.

Another festive tradition began in 1848 when a British confectioner, Tom Smith, invented a bold new way to sell sweets. Inspired by a trip to Paris where he saw bon bons – sugared almonds wrapped in twists of paper – he came up with the idea of the Christmas cracker: a simple package filled with sweets that snapped when pulled apart. The sweets were replaced by small gifts and paper hats in the late Victorian period, and remain in this form as an essential part of a modern Christmas.

Christmas tradition: Began not so long ago really.

Spadework: members of the 4th Haverhill Brownies take a break from their task of planting trees as part of the Go Wild project

Brownies brave the cold to go tree planting

BROWNIES joined forces with the Haverhill Volunteer Centre's Go Wild project on one of the coldest days of the year.

The 4th Haverhill Brownies were planting trees to mark their centenary in East Town Park.

A range of 30 different trees were planted by the girls, assisted by their families and members of the Go Wild team under the supervision of ranger Christine.

Barbara Adshead, Brown Owl, said: "We were not going to be put off by the cold weather and everyone had a fun time working together – the promise of hot chocolate with marshmallows really worked a treat."

It was very hard work but the girls were naturally prepared, wearing lots of warm winter clothes.

Anyone interested in the Go Wild Conservation project can call Elaine Hewes on 01440 708444.

For further information about the Brownies contact Barbara Adshead on 01440 710875.

Police in festive safety warning

CHRISTMAS revellers have been warned to take care of their safety during the party season.

The police alert comes after figures show the number of violent crimes involving alcohol or drugs increases from the second weekend of December, before reducing again in January.

"High visibility" police patrols will be increased on weekends leading to Christmas and the New Year as officers tackle alcohol-related offences.

Chief Supt Mark Cordell said: "As the festive season approaches we are acutely aware that the number of people out celebrating and drinking alcohol drastically increases, which can lead to a sharp increase in this type of crime.

"Our officers will be increasing their high visibility patrols in key town centre locations over the busy Christmas period, and will be responding to incidents by issuing fixed penalty notices and making early intervention arrests to stop any violence or anti-social behaviour escalating."

And he warned: "Offenders run the risk of being arrested and spending time in police custody, potentially ruining Christmas for themselves, their victims and many others."

The town pastors will play a role in tackling problems. Previous figures have shown that the volunteers have helped to avert violence by taking potential weapons, like glasses and bottles from people in the street.

In December last year, 214 crimes involving serious violence in a public place were recorded in Suffolk, and 125 of them were alcohol-related.

In December 2008, 186 crimes of this nature were recorded, with 116 of these being alcohol-related.

Last Christmas there were fewer arrests compared to the previous year. Across the county there were 496 arrests for 574 offences compared to 513 arrests for 603 offences in December 2008.

Magic season with Aladdin

Escape to the magical world of Aladdin this festive season as the favourite family panto opens today until January

THE much-loved Christmas pantomime, Aladdin, is being presented as the popular seasonal show at Cambridge Arts Theatre until January.

The team that brought last year's hilarious Dick Whittington and the 2007 hit production of Cinderella are reunited once more for a tale of jewel-studded caves, flying carpets and, of course, a quest for true love.

A host of magical stars of stage and screen will bring the Arts Theatre alive with songs and laughter, joy and magic – not to mention a sprinkling of fairy dust, to make this Christmas a festive season that all will remember.

Resident Dame Brad Fitt returns to the Arts Theatre stage as the feisty Widow Twankey, following his hilarious and acclaimed performances as Sarah the Cook in Dick Whittington and the prettier half of Ugly Sister duo Dolce and Gabanna in Cinderella.

Joining him are Arts Theatre favourites Julie Buckfield (Hollyoaks, Grange Hill) as Aladdin and Matt Crosby as Wishee Washee.

The famous story is set in a far-off land where there lived Widow Twankey and her dashing son, Aladdin.

When Aladdin falls in love with a beautiful Princess, it seems he has all he could ever wish for, but the evil Abanazer has other ideas. Tricked by sorcery, Aladdin finds himself trapped with no hope of escape – until he stumbles on a lamp possessing all the magic of the world.

Cambridge Arts Theatre's traditional pantomime is one of the very best around. There are new laughs and old for all the family in this magical musical production jam-packed full of songs, joy and magic – Aladdin is the perfect Christmas treat.

The cast includes Julie Buckfield as Aladdin, Matt Crosby as Wishee Washee, James Hirst as Abanazar, Martyn Ellis as The Emperor of China, Danielle Ella as the Princess, Ngo Ngofa as the Slave of the Ring and Jamie-Ray Hartshorne as the Genie of the Lamp.

This year's exciting cast has dazzled in the West End. Credits include Les Miserables, The Lion King, Fame, Guys and Dolls, Aspects of Love, Evita, Jesus Christ Superstar, and La Cage Aux Folles.

■ Performances of Aladdin will be running from today until January 16 with a number of matinee and evening shows. Details and tickets, £10 - £30, from the box office on (01223) 503333 or visit www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

The big film

LONDON BOULEVARD
certificate 18 104m

BOASTING an all-star cast and penned by William Monahan, the Oscar-winning screenwriter of Martin Scorsese's crime thriller The Departed, London Boulevard has all the elements to make it a top-notch gangster movie. But if a Scorsese film's the cinematic equivalent of an intricately crafted revolver, then this is simply a replica. It looks good on the surface and does what's called of it, but offers nothing new or interesting to the genre.
The climactic scene should surprise audiences but the journey to that point is a predictable one, with Monahan seemingly having checked off a 'must-do' list for gritty London gangster movies - down to the gratuitous lap dancing shots.
Reworked from a crime novel by Ken Bruen, itself a pastiche of Sunset Boulevard, it stars a 'cockney-fied' Colin Farrell as Mitchell, an ex-con who emerges from Pentonville Prison ready to make a fresh start.
Lacking funds and a place to stay, it's not long before he's sucked back into London's underbelly alongside his old mate, Billy (Ben Chaplin). But Mitchell's success on the streets soon catches the eye of ruthless crime boss Gant (Ray Winstone).

Seeing Mitchell as a potentially valuable asset, Gant extends a lucrative job offer to him - only for it to be rebuffed.

"You don't want me to be a gangster, nobody wants me to be a gangster 'cos I could not stop if I started. You'd be the first to die," Mitchell tells Gant over dinner in one of the film's most impressive scenes.

As Mitchell is soon to discover to his cost, no-one turns down Gant and the final third of the film becomes increasingly vicious in a deadly game of cat and mouse. It's to Farrell's credit that he can chop and change between being a cold-hearted villain and a tender protector, looking out for his troubled sister (Anna Friel) and Charlotte, a reclusive actress played by an under-stretched Keira Knightley, who employs Mitchell to protect her from paparazzi. A relationship ensues but the love story never feels more than a subplot.

Christmas wishes for TV's gardening stars

What do you give the celebrity gardener who has everything? Here are a few of the items on their wish list which may provide gift seekers with a little inspiration.

■ Gardening writer and presenter Alan Titchmarsh says: "I've just discovered a great Dutch supplier of garden tools called de Wiltfang (www.dewiltfang.nl) and would love one of their long-arm pruners which has a pair of secateurs at the end of a 2m pole. Great for pruning fruit trees without a ladder!"

And what would he give? "I'd be happy to make any gardening friend a present of a de Wiltfang garden sprinkler – great for the veg patch since it's made of brass and steel and so lasts much longer than plastic models. Mine was hugely useful last summer."

■ TV gardener Charlie Dimmock, who has downed tools for the festive season to appear in pantomime in Windsor, says: "At the moment I'm after a folly to go at the end of my garden. I would much rather have that than a statue

by Hannah Stephenson

as a focal point. I have an avenue of lavender hedge and a pretty holly hedge with an arch in it and the folly would be beyond that.

"I'd also like to receive some hardy shrubs with bold foliage, such as variegated fatsia or pittosporum, to give a backdrop to my herbaceous border."

What would she give? "You can never have enough secateurs – the number of times I've put a pair down and can't find them again – so I'd buy gardening friends some good quality secateurs such as Felco."

■ Award-winning garden designer and TV broadcaster Chris Beardshaw, whose new series of Get Up & Grow airs on BBC Northern Ireland next spring, says: "When I am not in the garden I love to be out on my road bike and so if I could have anything for Christmas it would be a bamboo bike. I had the pleasure of riding one recently and far from being a gimmick it is a serious contender to carbon or aluminium frames and it was an incredible piece of engineering. The bamboo is reputed to be the lightest and the strongest material available and the fibrous structure of the bamboo provides great shock absorbency." For information on bamboo bikes go to www.bikebamboo.com

What would he give? "If money was no object I would buy someone a mini digger for Christmas. There is not much else I can think of which provides so much fun on a garden site. You can become your own 21st century Capability Brown with a mini digger and get really creative. You can use it to dig out and shape a pond for wildlife, create earth mound sculptures or carve out terracing. The only thing is it might be a bit hard to wrap."

■ Christine Walkden, plantswoman and regular gardening expert on BBC1's The One Show, says: "I would love an Access mini-greenhouse frame. I have one already and find it so useful that I would love another. Being attached to the house it benefits from the heat lost through the house.

"It's so useful for raising plants in the spring and for growing tomatoes during the summer and in the winter I use it for overwintering my non-hardy plants." Details of Access mini-greenhouses on www.garden-products.co.uk or phone (01788) 822301.

"The gift I would love to give is a day's course at a horticultural college or other establishment where the gardener could see skills being demonstrated and then given the opportunity of having a go themselves. There is nothing like doing it practically."

■ Adam Pasco, editor of BBC Gardeners' World magazine, says: "I'd be eternally grateful if someone could give me the ultimate control for slugs and snails, but would settle for regular visits by my favourite garden visitor, the song thrush, if that could be arranged."

"Otherwise, I'd like to increase my garden's productivity by extending the cropping season. I grow my salads and crops in deep beds – timber-edged beds about

ALL I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS: TV gardening star Charlie Dimmock has added a folly to her wish list this year.

1m wide, full of enriched soil. I'd love cloches that fit neatly over each bed that help warm and protect early sowings to produce earlier harvests, and also keep crops going through winter."

What would he give? "Gifts that grow are the best gardening presents for gardeners. Plants given by friends produce a personal bond that you remember every time you look at the plant. My choice would be a fabulous new fragrant rose called 'The One And Only'. It's the most beautiful red hybrid tea rose with a delicious, intoxicating scent. This is the rose to give as a gift to someone special in your life, as its name says it all. The roses open into magnificent fully double blooms that really need to be admired close-up in your home."

The rose, priced £11.99, is available from www.thompsonsmorgan.com, or 0844 2485383.

Peugeot RCZ is voted Coupe of the Year

Top Gear magazine this week voted the Peugeot RCZ its Coupé of the Year 2010.

The UK's best selling automotive magazine took its assessment of the RCZ to the extreme by road testing it in Northern China in the proximity of the Great Wall (pictured). It is the first time the Peugeot RCZ has been in the world's largest car market.

In appreciating the many virtues of the Peugeot RCZ, the magazine reports: "The Peugeot RCZ is a beautifully balanced car, easy to drive quickly. Low and wide, it always feels completely on your side, gripping hard, resorting to understeer only at the limit. The RCZ is positioned as a small, sophisticated GT, and fills it perfectly."

The Peugeot RCZ was launched in June and has been a huge success with 2,000 cars sold in the UK. Priced from £20,450 it is available with a choice of three engine options – a 200bhp or 156bhp THP turbo-charged petrol engine and a 163 bhp HDI diesel engine.

Other accolades bestowed on the RCZ include it being awarded Diesel Car magazine's Best Sports Car of the Year 2010.

Soft drinks deal is central to this year's anti drink-drive ads

DESIGNATED drivers will be offered a buy one, get one free deal on soft drinks in pubs as part of the Government's Christmas anti-drink-drive campaign launched last week.

The Government's road safety campaign Think! has joined Coca-Cola to offer the drinks in more than 8,000 participating pubs.

The offer is in addition to radio advertising, posters in pub toilets and online search activity in a campaign that will run until January 2.

Launching the campaign, road safety minister Mike Penning said: "Drivers should be in no doubt that if they get behind the wheel after drinking this Christmas, they risk losing their licence as well as facing a fine and even a prison sentence.

"Last year 380 people were killed in accidents where the driver was over the limit. That is why our message is clear: don't drink and drive."

Chief Constable Mick Giannasi, head of roads policing with the Association of Chief Police Officers, said: "This year we are using information from the public to target those areas where drink-driving is a particular problem and so the chances of getting caught are greater than ever.

"If the police stop a driver, and there is any suspicion that they have been drinking, then they will be asked to provide a breath test and drivers should be in no doubt that if they are found to be over the limit they will be brought before the courts.

"Many drivers don't realise that alcohol stays in the system for a number of hours, and that they could still be over the limit the next morning when driving to work or dropping the children off at school. That is why we are asking drivers to be safe, not sorry, this Christmas."

Coca-Cola Great Britain and Ireland manager Jon Woods said: "This Christmas we're proud to be partnering with the Government's Think! initiative to help raise awareness of responsible drinking."

As the campaign was launched, the AA released details of a poll of 18,251 of its members which showed that the most popular excuse for drinking and driving is, "It's only down the road".

The next most-heard excuse is: "I've had food so that will have soaked the alcohol up".

Other frequent excuses are: "It's been a while since the last drink", or "There won't be any traffic around" or "I won't get caught".

As many as 67 per cent of 18 to 24-year-olds had heard the "only down the road" excuse and 35 per cent the "I won't get caught" response.

The AA/Populus poll, released yesterday, revealed that more young drivers had heard excuses for drink-driving than older motorists.

AA president Edmund King said: "There is no excuse for drink-driving. Drivers must accept responsibility and stop making excuses for drink-driving. A short journey or a low-perceived risk of being caught are not valid excuses for breaking the law and putting lives at risk.

"The 'it's only down the road' excuse can easily end up with a trip to the morgue. Our key message is, if you are going to drink, don't drive, and if you are going to drive, don't drink."

The AA has joined drinks company Pernod Ricard UK in a national Christmas anti-drink-drive campaign.

Pernod Ricard UK's chief executive Jean-Manuel Spriet said: "We all have a role to play in preventing drink-driving. Those that hear the excuses can accept responsibility too – by pointing out that the excuse does not justify the risk."

Drink-drive bid: Say no.

A notice to all motorists who are thinking of upgrading their current car.

Dear Reader

Following our unprecedented success throughout 2010, we now have exceptionally high levels of used car stock.

As a group directive, these must make way for our new stock arriving in January 2011. Of course, we could send these to auction and let the public take advantage of our fantastic quality and value there, but we thought, with the help of the local area, that we would pass the huge savings on to you.

We have over 150 multi franchise vehicles in group stock which are all priced and ready to sell, so we urge you to visit us now.

And as a thank you for your custom, or as an incentive to come and be a part of our success, simply fill out the pre-printed cheque below, present it to a member of staff on arrival and we will slash £300 off the screen price of the vehicle of your choice.

You can even bring along your current vehicle and we'll give you a highly competitive quote for this which can also be taken off all screen prices.

Hurry, this offer must end before December 14th.

Essex County Council

Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004
Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) (Amendment) Regulations 2008

Minerals Development Document: Preferred Approach (December 2010)

Notice of public participation in the preparation of a development plan document under Regulation 25 of the above regulations

Consultation period 9 December 2010 to 17 February 2011

Essex County Council has produced a Minerals Development Document (MDD): Preferred Approach (December 2010), which sets out the Authority's vision, objectives, preferred Core Strategy policies, Development Management policy criteria and Site Allocations to meet the county's needs for minerals supply until 2028.

Twenty preferred sand and gravel sites have been identified to provide for mineral extraction in Essex. Four are new and sixteen are extensions to existing sites, one of which includes silica sand. Provision is also included for a separate brick clay site. These sites were put forward by landowners and the minerals industry in response to previous Calls for Sites for mineral extraction in the Minerals Development Document: Issues and Options consultations between 2005 and 2009.

Feedback from this consultation will inform the subsequent MDD: Submission stage consultation, before the Minerals Development Document is submitted to the Secretary of State for independent Examination in Public. Consultation at each stage will accord with the above regulations and with the County Council's Statement of Community Involvement. The complete suite of documents is available from 9 December 2010 on the County Council website at www.essex.gov.uk/MDD-consultation, and to view in hard copy at County Hall, Chelmsford, and at the District & Borough Council offices listed below. The document can also be viewed at all Essex main and branch libraries, but with accompanying appendices and supporting documents only available electronically.

Representations on the MDD: Preferred Approach (December 2010) are invited during the ten-week period of public participation from 9 December 2010 to 17 February 2011 and must be received by 17:30 on 17 February 2011. Representations can be submitted in any of the following ways: online via <http://consult.essexcc.gov.uk>, by email to mineralsandwastepolicy@essex.gov.uk, by fax to 01245 437213 or in writing to the Head of Environmental Planning (MDD), Minerals & Waste Planning, Essex County Council Freepost CL 3636, E3 County Hall, Chelmsford CM1 1QH. Further information can be obtained from our Helpline on 01245 435555 or at the address specified above.

Date: 9 December 2010.

&gt;&gt; Youth football:

Kedington 4 Littleport Tn 3

Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-13C KEDINGTON went straight on the attack from the kick-off and created several early chances early, only to be thwarted by some good defending and excellent saves by the Littleport keeper.

But the hosts eventually took the lead when keeper Jack Davis threw the ball to Cameron Larkin, who slid it sideways to George Mustoe, and he picked out Ty Alleyne, who skipped past several defenders before beating the keeper low into the corner.

Kedington captain Jason Moore started the move that led to his team's second, picking up a loose ball in midfield and driving forward before releasing to Bailey Cassidy on the wing.

Cassidy controlled the pass and fired the ball into the box, finding Ellis Wiffen, who turned and slid the ball across the goal-mouth where man-of-the-match Steve Boyles finished with a simple tap-in.

Littleport pulled one back at the start of the second half but were soon down by two again when Callum Dray's defensive header was picked up by Jack Ferguson, whose attempted cross was blocked for a throw. Aaron Thorne took the throw, finding Alleyne, whose cross was deflected in.

Littleport continued to attack and pulled one back, but Kedington were not finished. Ash Wyatt headed the Littleport keeper's kick along the wing to Jamie Lingard and he played a one-two with Owen Boddey before sending a cracking strike into the top corner.

Late in the match, Littleport scored again, but could not force an equaliser.

Alleyne's effort Tys opponents in knots

Kedington manager Neil Mustoe said: "This was a fantastic match between two fairly even teams, the lads really had to work hard for the win."

Spartak 78 A 1 West Wrattling 0

Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-15A THE REDS can count themselves very unlucky not to have taken at least a point from this match against the Division A pace-setters.

A game of limited chances played on an extremely difficult and heavy surface needed a committed approach, and the Reds were not left short in that department. Had the visitors taken at least one of their chances in a goalless first half, it would probably have been enough to take the points.

It was not a game for the faint-hearted and the Reds' team performance was typified by man-of-the-match Keiran O'Neill's effort in midfield.

Also catching the eye were keeper Jack Vernon, who had another impressive game, the centre-back pairing of Sam Clayton and skipper Matt Burley, Jack Child, Zak Ollington and Luke Wilson.

Win money and aid club

CASH prizes are up for grabs in Haverhill Rovers Youth FC's fundraising raffle.

The top prize will be £150 cash, with separate amounts of £100 and £50 also to be won, along with many other prizes. Tickets are available for purchase from reception at the Samuel Ward Technology College at £1 each. The raffle will be drawn on Sunday at 7pm at the New Croft, when the bar will also be open.

From the kick-off, Harry Willett got the Reds moving with two lovely passes before hitting a long-distance effort just wide.

O'Neill was fouled on the 10-minute mark and Willett sent the 25-yard free kick just wide.

It was 10 minutes before the Reds put together another good move, Tom Pinker foraging down the right and crossing for Scott Hayes, only for his effort to be scrambled clear. Child then burst down the right wing and crossed for Hayes to flick on to Willett, who drew a great stop from the home keeper.

On the half-hour, Vernon made a great stop to keep out Spartak, before Wrattling responded with two long-distance efforts from Tom Pinker and Wilson.

Just before the break, Child and Hayes combined to create a fantastic opening for Ollington, but his effort was blocked.

The Reds had just edged the first half, but Spartak started well after the break and looked to have taken the lead before a brilliant save from the onrushing Vernon.

The balance swung back to the Reds as Willett unlocked the home defence and Pinker's 20-yard effort looked goal-bound before a stunning stop from the home keeper.

Spartak had the edge as the game entered the final stages, and Vernon pulled out another great stop. The finely balanced game was settled in the final minutes by a scrambled goal with keeper Vernon appearing to be fouled as Spartak forced home the winner from close range.

Wrattling threw everything at Spartak in an attempt to grab an equaliser but the reigning champions held on and there was just time for Tom Warnock to pull off a piece of defensive brilliance in the last minute.

West Wrattling 3 Soham Utd 6

Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-14B THE REDS faced the league leaders, who had yet to drop a point so far this season, and could not halt that impressive run, although the scoreline did not reflect a pretty even possession count.

Goals from Rory Jebb, Mark Coulson and Earle Lambert pushed Soham all the way to the whistle, and there were other stand-out performances from captain Sam Ager and man-of-the-match Harry Wilson.

Ryan Cooper, George Sheath and Robert Foster caused Soham problems with their guile and quick feet all match, and the remaining Wrattling players Horscroft, Millar, Massie, Torode and Elliott played a valuable part.

AN emphatic 17-0 win over local rivals Chalkstone has been the highlight for Castle Hill Middle School's Year Seven team. It came in the Suffolk Cup where the Haverhill school have reached the quarter-finals thanks to some free-flowing, attacking football.

All Saints were brushed aside 6-0 and Beyton were defeated 3-1.

The Year Six girls' team have also impressed, finishing joint-fifth in the Suffolk county finals in a competition featuring 83 teams.

But it is not just football where Castle Hill have excelled. The Castle Hill Cougars basketball team have enjoyed a good season, the highlight of which was a 61-23 demolition of All Saints.

>> Tennis:

Rachel, Lucy and Abi prove a team for all seasons!

THE Haverhill Tennis Team of Abi Cartwright-Thomas, Lucy Hardwick and Rachel Jeffs have added the Halstead & District Winter League title to the summer league they won earlier this year.

Their first fixture against Forrester Park saw Cartwright-Thomas and Jeffs winning all five sets.

Hardwick was in fine form for the two matches she played against Lavenham B and Wickham Bishops, winning all her singles matches, and with Cartwright-Thomas losing only one of the 10 rubbers played.

A strong Braintree team gave Haverhill a close fight, but after a few three-set matches, the girls managed to win 4-1.

The final fixture on a bitterly cold day against old rivals Lavenham saw Ruby and Daisy Hawkins put up a great fight for the opposition, and Ruby Hawkins had a match point against Cartwright-Thomas but failed to put an overhead away and lost 5-4, 4-0, (8-10 in the championship tie-break).

Jeffs proved too strong for Daisy Hawkins (4-1, 4-2), but lost 4-0, 4-2 to Ruby Hawkins in a great game.

Cartwright-Thomas beat Daisy Hawkins 4-0, 4-1 in a one-sided game and then combined with Jeffs in the doubles to play the final match. The Haverhill girls played some great tennis, wrapping the match up quite quickly 4-0, 4-0 with the Lavenham girls' spirit dwindling.

>> Football: Rovers fall victim to big freeze again, but chairman hails facilities at New Croft and says he has . . .

Grounds for optimism

HAVERHILL'S home clash with Great Yarmouth could have been the only match played in the Ridgeons League on Saturday had the roads in Norfolk not scuppered their plans.

Rovers are enjoying their first season at the New Croft after moving into their new surroundings following 97 years at Hamlet Croft.

Chairman Steve Brown felt there was a chance the match officials would have given their weekend fixture the green light thanks to their new ground's superior drainage – but the visitors were unable to travel due to severe snow and ice.

However, the postponement has far from dampened the chief's spirits as everyone at the club continues to love life in their new home.

"The drainage is first class and we thought we'd give it as much of a chance as we could, because I knew it would thaw a bit," said Brown.

"Yarmouth really didn't want to travel down because the roads weren't good. Football's not life and death. It did thaw pretty well and it probably would have been touch and go in some areas of the pitch. We definitely wouldn't have got it on at the old ground as it would have been solid.

"It's a fantastic stadium with great facilities. We're very lucky to have it and having such great facilities has made the transition very easy."

Haverhill manager Peter Betts, who will start a full-time FA-funded post at the Haverhill Community Sports Association next month, has led the side to fourth in the Premier Division table.

Brown has been hugely impressed by the boss' exploits this term as he moulds an honest bunch of players into a highly effective unit.

"Peter is doing a fantastic job," said Brown. "He's Haverhill through and through, and he works very hard."

"The players are punching above their weight at the moment. There are no big-time charlies, they're just a bunch of friends who really want to play for Haverhill."
